The Paul Taylor Dance Company

- Majestic Theatre

Since 1954, Paul Taylor Dance Company has consistently created modern routines exploring the breadth of the human experience. Inspired by everything from sexuality to the futility of connection, these inimitable dances have been performed across the world with support from the U.S. Department of State. PBS junkies may be familiar with PTDC's works (including the Emmy-winning Speaking in Tongues) from televised performances dating back to 1978. ARTS San Antonio imports the New York-based company in its ongoing effort to "educate, enrich, and entertain the people" of the Alamo City. $29-$110, Tue, Feb 10, 7:30 pm, The Majestic Theatre, 224 E. Houston, (210) 226-3333.
