Igudesman and Joo

Igudesman & Joo market themselves as a cross between West Side Story and The Simpsons, but to my ears, classical music's Weird Al Yankovic more directly hits the mark. What if Mozart had arranged "I Will Survive?" Or if you turned "La Cucaracha" into a sonata? Sure it takes a bit of classical training to be in on the joke, but Igudesman & Joo's brilliance lies in the execution, particularly the duo's incredible musicianship and fine comic timing. Lord knows classical music deserves to have a little fun poked at it and arguably nobody does it with more humor and dedication to the music than these guys. $29-$110, 7:30pm, Tuesday, Aztec Theater, 104 N St. Mary's, (210) 226-2891, artssa.org —J.D.
