

SA Current

10 Things You Have to Do This Weekend

Posted By Bryan Rindfuss on Thu, Feb 11, 2016 at 3:35 PM

Fri 2/12, 2016

Fiesta Mexico Americana!

In a musical landscape littered with “genreless” artists, Los Lobos stand out as fusionist pioneers with an undying love of experimentation. Rising out of ’70s-era East LA with a repertoire that blurred blues, roots and Mexican folkloric sounds, the group scored a Grammy before their major label debut (1984’s How Will the Wolf Survive?) and reached the masses in 1987 with a chart-topping cover of Ritchie Valens’ classic “La Bamba.” Touted by critics for their surreal 1992 album Kiko, the six-piece return to the Alamo City as part of a creative collaboration with Ballet Folklórico Mexicano. $29-$110, 7:30pm, The Majestic Theatre, 224 E. Houston St., (210) 226-2891, artssa.org.

— Bryan Rindfuss

